Art Unit: 2816

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-18, drawn to a differential output circuit, classified in class 327, subclass 108.

II. Claims 19-38, drawn to a signal detection device, classified in class 327, subclass 50.

Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the claimed signal detection device may be patentable by itself without the details of the differential output circuit (note the evidence claims in group II). The subcombination has separate utility such as for use in any IC where a differential output signal is needed or desired.
